Dear Professor Lederberg,

I enclose a copy of the paper on penicillinase induction which I promised to send you some months ago. I shall be submitting it for publication shortly. I do not think it will be of great interest to you but I should be most grateful if you could pass it on to Johnson and ask him to forward it in turn to Harry Eagle, to whom I have also promised to send a copy.

May I thank you very belatedly for your letter of June 27 and also for the duplicated copy of your recent paper on production of coli protoplasts with penicillin. Several people seem to be using this technique already. Have you succeeded in getting any re-combination with protoplasts yet?

I am much looking forward to seeing you next March.

Yours sincerely,

Martin Pollock
